Sand Cave, Ky., Feb. 14—The shaft driven toward the cavern where Floyd Collins has been entombed for fifteen days, has reached a point within three feet of the roof of the strange tomb, engineers in charge of the rescue work said today. The roof is about three feet thick, they estimated. Hence they are now within six feet of the passage leading to Collins.

"We expect to reach the limestone roof of Collins' passage way within the next three feet," the statement asserted. "Three feet below that we should break into the cavern." This according to H. T. Carmichael, in direct charge of the pit, was indicated by their survey.

At the Mouth of Sand Cave, Ky., Feb. 14—Hope that Floyd Collins may be brought from the depths of Sand Cave alive ran high again over these bleak Kentucky hills today.

Gleamed by sworn statements of miners who went into the cavern which Collins entered 15 days ago, skilled miners sinking a shaft toward the entombed explorer hoped for his rescue at any time.

Men who penetrated the cork-screw hole toward Collins' prison said they distinctly heard a gasping groan from the entombed man. They made the statement under oath before the board of inquiry investigating rescue efforts.

A short cut cavern which would make unnecessary the long grind of drilling and drifting is expected to be uncovered today, H. T. Carmichael, in charge of the digging operations, announced today.

A test drill placed eight feet from the shaft being sunk toward the rock prison of Collins revealed a cavity.

JUNIOR CONVENTION IS IN BALLOTING DEADLOCK

Fails to Elect Representative to Junior State Legislature up to the Twelfth Ballot

ELIMINATION PROCESS USED

The county convention of school delegates, meeting here today at the court house to elect a representative to represent the Rush county schools in the Junior state legislature next month in Indianapolis, appeared to be deadlocked on the twelfth ballot at 11:30 this morning.

Four candidates started in the race and for a time Miss Naomi Nash of Gings was leading, but did not have a sufficient number to put her across. On the third ballot the two low candidates were voted upon, and one eliminated.

Lawrence Davison for Rushville was dropped on the sixth ballot when the low candidate was automatically eliminated. Rushville then put Lamorne Perkins in the race. The process of elimination was to continue until the representative was selected.

Two motions were lost, when an attempt was made to adjourn for a few minutes, and the balloting kept on. The rules and regulations sent by the state department, provided for the election, and the method of elimination.

SIX TOWNSHIPS REPRESENTED

School for Girls' Club Leaders is Held at Court House Friday

Ten girls' club leaders representing six townships in Rush county attended a club leaders' school at the assembly room in the court house Friday, in charge of Miss Neva Stephenson of Purdue.

The organization of clubs was outlined and discussed at the morning session, and in the afternoon, a program of work was the topic.

Prospects are now that there will be clubs in ten townships of the county, although four townships where there are leaders, were not represented Friday.

FINISH SURVEY BY WEDNESDAY IS GOAL

Hope Of Modifying Or Lifting Poultry Quarantine Is Seen By Dr. N. G. Wickshire

LETTER TO POULTRY BUYERS

Notified They Must Disinfect Under Federal Or State Inspection—Urged to Act at Once

Finish the survey of Rush county farms by next Wednesday afternoon so that the quarantine on poultry and poultry products may be modified, was the goal placed today before the county veterinarians conducting the survey, by Dr. N. G. Wickwire, federal veterinarian, who was assigned to this county by Dr. R. C. Julien, state veterinarian, when the European fowl pest was discovered in eastern Indiana.

Dr. Wickwire notified all poultry buyers, in a letter mailed today, that all coops, trucks, buildings and equipment where poultry is handled must be cleaned and disinfected under a federal or state man so that when they call for the farmer's poultry, there will be no danger of the poultry plague being spread. Dr. Wickwire believes this is necessary to protect the poultry raiser.

The quarantine can not be modified or raised, it is pointed out, until these instructions are followed out, and for this reason, Dr. Wickwire desires that all buyers make arrangements with him the first of next week to comply with this order so that there will be no delay in lifting the ban that has been in effect since last Saturday, in case the veterinarians finish the survey.

In some townships the survey is nearing completion and some veterinarians have assured Dr. Wickwire that as soon as they finish in their townships, they will assist veterinarians in other townships where there is a greater number of farms, so that the survey can be completed at the earliest possible moment.

So far the fowl pest has not been found in Rush county although there was suspicion of it, which accounted for the hasty visit of Dr. Julien here Friday. He and Dr. Wickwire posted birds on four different farms twelve in all, where there had been extremely heavy losses in poultry flocks.

In each instance, chicken cholera was in evidence. Dr. Julien impressed upon the owners in every case that cholera was very contagious and carries a very high death rate, and that isolation of sick birds and sanitation were to be relied upon, as there is little help from medical treatment. Intestinal antiseptics are the best, Dr. Julien pointed out.

Numerous requests have come to the veterinarians and county agent's office from people who have diseased poultry and in every instance a man has been dispatched at the earliest possible moment. These requests, those in charge of the survey say, spells cooperation from the poultry raisers and farmers and is very praiseworthy.

The letter which Dr. Wickwire

Bill Provides Way For Rushville To Acquire a Community Building

Possible for City to Obtain City Hall, Fire Station, Basketball Gymnasium and Community Building, all Combined in one Edifice, Through Earnings of Municipal Water and Light Plant.

The city of Rushville can procure a new city hall, fire station, basketball gymnasium and community building, all combined in one large edifice, if a bill introduced in the senate is passed and made a law.

The bill is practically assured of passage. It was introduced by Senator George L. Saunders of Bluffton, and while intended for that city, it also will apply to only a few other Indiana cities having a municipal water and light plant, that is capable of showing an annual surplus earning.

The only other restriction regards census. This is where Rushville is fortunate, if the proposed bill is passed. The city must have a population, government 1920 census, of not less than 5,000, nor more than 5,500. The cities included between that are Greensburg, Bluffton, Mount Vernon, Rushville and Warsaw. The population of Rushville is 5,498.

One of the purposes of the building plan under the proposed act is to compel the municipal plant to maintain a goal for converting a certain sum annually to retire payments due on the building. In this way, the publicly owned plant would give something in return to the taxpayers, and in a few years would pay out on a city building that would be the pride of the community.

The bill is an interesting one to read, and a copy of it is printed here. The necessary steps are simple, and persons interested in the movement to build a modern building, suitable for all purposes, are urged to boost for the passage of it, and should notify at once, Senator Hill and Representative Trowbridge of this county.

The entire bill is as follows: A bill for an act concerning the erection of city buildings, empowering cities to include in such buildings provisions for community activities, including a room for use as an auditorium, a community hall and gymnasium, and to equip the same; providing a method by which the qualified voters of such cities may vote upon the question of erecting and equipping said building; authorizing said election and providing the force and effect thereof; providing for the use, management and

Terms of Senate Bill

Provides any city in Indiana having a municipal water and light plant and with population of not less than 5,000 or more than 5,500, may erect a community building from surplus earnings of such plant, if there are any.

Bill was introduced primarily to fit the case of Bluffton, but it happens that it could be applied in Rushville, as official 1920 census gave Rushville population of 5,498.

Sec. 1. Rush county automobile owners were making their last minute rush for 1925 auto license plates today, as the period for leniency expires tonight, and on Sunday officers have been instructed to arrest all drivers who fail to display a new plate.

Miss Grace Billings, clerk at the county office for the license plates, located at the Triangle garage, reported this morning that there was a constant line of applicants, who had waited for the last day of grace. The office closes at five o'clock this evening, and from then on, the lid will be clamped and motorists, who have not obtained new plates, will be subject to detention.

NINE CIVIL SUITS FILED IN COURT

William Strook Files Action Against Parks and Williams, Who Built McManus Et Al. Road

ASKS $6,500 LOANED THEM

Ruth M. Sefton, Alleging Husband is Lazy and Indifferent, Sues C. R. Sefton for Divorce

Nine civil suits, including many kinds of actions, were filed in the circuit court late Friday, and today there was little business being transacted, excepting minor issues involved in cases, and court recessed until Monday.

A suit seeking to collect $6,500 on a bond was filed on relation of the state of Indiana by William Strook against the surviving partnership of Parks and Williams, road contractors, and their bondsmen, the New Amsterdam Casualty Company. The plaintiff alleges that Parks and Williams were awarded the road contract in May 1923 for the construction of the McManus, et al., highway in Jackson township. In July, 1924, the complaint alleges that the contractors became financially burdened and were unable to carry out the contract without assistance, and the plaintiff, William Strook advanced money and funds.

He alleges that he has not been paid, and the complaint is to force the bonding company to make the payment, in which the demand is for $6,500.

Ruth M. Sefton is plaintiff in a divorce suit filed against Charles R. Sefton, alleging that he was lazy and indifferent, and failed to provide. She alleges that she was compelled to accompany him and make him work on their farm rented in Richland township, and also on a farm in Fayette county. They were married August 17, 1919 and separated October 6, 1924. He is alleged to have abandoned her on that date, and has not lived in this state since.

Nellie Abercrombie has filed a suit against Clifford Travis and James Travis, demanding judgment on notes, totalling $2,100.

Richard J. Sparling is plaintiff on a claim against the estate of Elizabeth Sparling, demanding $1,900.50 for services rendered.

Luey M. Webb, et al., are plaintiffs against Earl P. Webb, and others, the action seeking a partition of real estate involved in the estate of Isaac Webb.

Albert L. Bundy is plaintiff on a claim filed against the estate of William Bundy, and the demand is for $832.92 judgment.

The Milroy bank has sued Donel Laughlin and others on a note, and to set aside a conveyance of real estate. The demand on the action is for $3,250.

Pearl D. Gartin has filed a partition suit against John Leamon Gartin and others, the suit seeking to have the court partition real estate involved in the estate of John G. Gartin.

Lafayette Peck is plaintiff in a suit filed against Harry Gosnell, the action being on a note, and the demand for $1,200 judgment.

DRYS CONFIDENT OF BILL BEING PASSED

"Bone Dry" Measure Sent to Engraving in Senate After Withstanding Amendment Attacks

ONLY ONE IS ADOPTED

Strikes out Clause to Make it Impossible to Suppress Evidence on Improper Search Warrants

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 14—Governor Jackson today signed two senate bills and three joint resolutions. The bills were Senator Sims bill requiring school authorities to display the American flag on the school building and the Harrison bill authorizing the state conservation department to issue free hunting and fishing licenses to honorably discharged soldiers, sailors and marines.

The joint resolutions proposed three amendments to the state constitution. The proposals have been passed by two legislatures and will now be submitted to popular vote.

The proposed amendments would prevent salary increase for public officials during the term for which they were elected, would take women in apportioning the state for senatorial and representative districts and would require judges to be elected at separate elections.

(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 14—Dry forces were confident today of final passage of the Wright "bone dry" prohibition bill in the senate early next week.

The bill went to engrossment before the week end adjournment late Friday after withstanding a dozen attempts to attach radical amendment.

Only one amendment was adopted on second reading. The amendment strikes out the clause of the bill which sought to make it impossible to suppress evidence of liquor law violations obtained on improperly drawn search warrants.

Through the amendment the provisions of the present law on faulty affidavits and search warrants would be retained.

A roll call was demanded on practically every amendment offered, the contest being close.

A motion made by Senator Sweeney to postpone the bill indefinitely was tabled on motion of Senator Cann by a vote of 33 to 8.

With two dissenting votes, the senate passed the cooperative marketing bill endorsed by the Indiana Farm Bureau Federation.

A similar bill has passed the house but the senate bill will be sent to the lower branch for concurrence in

GIVE NEEDLESS BILLS CHLOROFORM ROUTE

Twenty Percent of All Bills Introduced in Legislature Have Passed on to Early Grave

ONLY 600 BILLS INTRODUCED

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 14—The chloroform route for needless bills as advocated early in the session of the Indiana legislature by Harry G. Leslie, speaker of the house, is disclosed as the fifth week closes.

Twenty percent of all the bills introduced have already passed on to an early grave. Slightly less than 600 bills have been introduced in the senate and house up to today and of this number 120 have either been killed or withdrawn.

As the session progresses the number of bills introduced will become less each day because it is realized that late comers have very little chance, especially after the appropriation measure gets under way on the floor of the houses. Therefore during the next three weeks it is expected that the killing process will gain in ratio.

The indications are now that this session of the legislature will establish a record on killing bills by formal action. In the past many bills have died in committee.

STATE ROADS DEVELOP WEAK SPOTS DUE TO TRAFFIC OF HEAVY TRUCKS

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 14—Some gravel and stone surfaced state roads developed weak places under heavy truck traffic following the unusually warm weather last Sunday, and if rain comes with warmer temperature following the freeze of February 11, additional failures can be expected.

John D. Williams, highway director, in the commission's traffic bulletin issued today, said that in the event of a gradual rise in temperature and an absence of rain, it will be possible to keep traffic moving over practically the entire system and the roads in fair shape, by limiting loads in cases of extreme warm weather.

Highway officials are treating break as emergency cases, and as fast as they occur rush field forces to make repairs. Cinders, gravel and crushed stone are being used in car load lots, and where a break is serious, in order to keep traffic moving continuously, the department provides teams to pull machines through.

In the last few days breaks and weak spots have been reported on No. 31 west of Rockville; No. 3, west of Clayfordsville; three on No. 59 in the vicinity of Bass Lake, North Judson and San Pierre; on No. 19 near Alexandria; No. 11 between Eden and Pendleton; on No. 38 near Jeffersville. On No. 1 south of Franklin, a 500-foot stretch is closed temporarily to bus and heavy truck traffic, and on the same road the old section between Crothersville and Scottsburg is closed to trucks and busses. Light traffic is going through.

One of the detours on No. 6 between New Bethel and Shelbyville is bad in thawing weather, while a detour on the same road near Lafayette is so soft in thawing weather that traffic is advised not to use it. These detours can be avoided in thawing weather if traffic will use the following routes: Shelbyville to Indianapolis traffic take county road at Shelbyville to Fountaintown, thence on 33 to Indianapolis, Indianapolis to Lafayette traffic take No. 44 from Lebanon via Frankfort to Rossville, thence on 29 to Lafayette.

Indiana's diversified weather is aptly illustrated by field reports on Wednesday. When Indianapolis and the north section was gripped in a blizzard of snow and ice, the frost was all out of the ground in the New Albany district and farmers were plowing.

Surface conditions, detours, etc., for the week of February 14-21 are set forth in the bulletin as follows:

No. 1—Pavement from Indianapolis to Peru. Detour 7 miles north of Kokomo account of bridge repair. (South of Indianapolis bus and heavy traffic is temporarily prohibited from using 500-foot stretch south of Franklin. Old gravel road is closed to busses and trucks between Crothersville and Scottsburg. Light traffic going through.) Turn right at corner of Tipton and O'Brien streets, Seymour, following marked detour via Chestnut Ridge coming out on No. 1 at 7 miles north of Crothersville. Parts of this detour is rough.

No. 2—Pavement from Lincoln Highway west to 2½ miles east of Columbia City. Detour marked to Columbia City, 1 mile of which is bad. Pavement from Warsaw east 6 miles, thence detour south via Ellettsville to old location into Columbia City.

No. 4—One mile of earth road between Dugger and Linton; detour over county road through Dugger in wet weather. Run-around at Busseron dredge ditch 3 miles east of Sullivan is narrow and soft in rainy weather.

No. 5—Construction from junction of 41 and 5 to West Baden; detour over State Roads Nos. 41 and 22.

No. 6—Pavement between Indianapolis and Shelbyville with but two detours around bridge construction, one of which is very poor. Shelbyville to Indianapolis traffic can avoid this detour—passable in dry weather—by taking county road from Shelbyville to Fountaintown, thence on No. 39 to Indianapolis. Use pavement from Indianapolis to

3.7 miles north of Lebanon, thence over short detour back to pavement. Detour at 6 miles north of Lebanon to west through Thorntown returning to No. 6 at 3 miles north of Thorntown. Short detour to east at 4 miles north of Thorntown. This last is impassable in thawing weather, so Lebanon to Lafayette traffic should take 44 from Lebanon via Frankfort to Rossville, thence on 29 to Lafayette.

No. 10—Pavement from Evansville to 2 miles north of Hazelton, but traffic must use old bridge over Patoka river at Patoka. Closed at 4 miles north of Veedersburg account paving; detour to east returning to No. 10 at 2 miles south of Attica. (This detour practically impassable when road is thawing.) Detour east at Carbondale account bridge construction. Side detour 1 mile south of Boswell in dry weather; in wet detour to west.

No. 11—Bad breaks in surface between Eden and Pendleton. Roadside run-around at bridge out 2½ miles north of State Road 46.

No. 12—Drive slow over new fill at Fish Creek 4 miles south of Freeborn. Bad break between Centerton and Martinsville—one way traffic only.

No. 13—Run-around just south of (artificial) City; run-around just south of Bluffton, and run-around bridge south of Ossian.

No. 14—Earth road from Leopold Junction to St. Croix is impassable at this time.

No. 16—Do not use this road from overhead crossing project just west of Lincoln City, east through Lincoln City, St. Meinrad and St. Croix to Leavenworth as it is under construction and earth surface most of the way.

No. 17—Two run-arounds between Ligonier and Kendallville, account bridge construction.

No. 19—Small breaks near Alexandria.

No. 22—Pavement between Indianapolis and Martinsville with one detour and one run-around. Between "holy and English" is 17 miles of earth road impassable to autos at this time. Avoid road south of Evansburg account of construction.

No. 24—New grade completed between Palmyra and Salem but go via Frederickburg or Martinsville in wet weather. (New Albany and Louisville traffic go via Pekin and Martinsville coming out on 5 at Greenfield, in wet weather.)

No. 25—Pavement from Lagrange to within 1 mile of Goshen—Middlebury road. One-half mile detour marked to south. Run-around at bridge construction 8 and 9 miles east of Angola.

No. 28—Earth surface between Sandy Hook and Rodgers; ferry at White river running. Drive carefully at dangerous hill south of Newberry.

No. 29—Soft place between Russellville and Middlefork.

No. 32—Run-around at bridge construction south of Romney.

No. 31—Break in surface east of Rockville.

No. 33—Side detour around bridge at 5 miles east of Crawfordville. Bad break in surface west of Crawfordville.

No. 38—Surface break near Sellersburg.

No. 40—Two miles detour starting at 6 miles east of Scottsburg account overhead construction at B. and O. railroad, is poor. Five miles of coarse stone between Ireland and Cato. Good detour is marked around this.

No. 41—Traffic use new grade over Willow Valley Hill except in wet weather, then use old road.

No. 50—Surface breaks near North Judson, Bass Lake and San Pierre.

vity nine feet deep at the 60 foot level.

The drill, only an inch in diameter, could show how wide this cavern is. Carnieated how it may be large enough to admit a rescue party. They will widen it with dynamite, if necessary.

Workers hope that the cavity may lead into Collins prison or may be the same one in which he lies. Collins, according to revised estimate is almost on the same level with it.

Brig. Gen. H. H. Denhardt, military commander, caused tremendous excitement late yesterday when he announced that Edwin Brenner, Cincinnati, had gone down the original tunnel, choked near Collins with fallen stone and had heard Collins gasp. Brenner, a former miner, volunteered for the work. Denhardt said.

It developed later that this was the cause of the flurry of excitement which swept the country around noon yesterday.

An excited officer, about that time, ordered all workmen and newspapermen back from the pit and rumors started that Collins had been saved.

Denhardt announced later that men had been ordered back so that Brenner, listening far below after crawling through the barricaded cave, could hear any possible sound from Collins. Brenner's statement was read into the records of the court martial of inquiry into rescue work scandals which was being held today in a tent at the scene. A sentry paced before the door. Ever, outsider, including newspaper men, was excluded.

After a lengthy session late yesterday Denhardt called in the newspaper men and informed them of Brenner's discovery. Officers of the inquiry announced themselves convinced that Collins still lives.

The official communique issued early today reads:

"Depth of the shaft is 52 feet at top of timber, leaving a three foot section at the bottom to be timbered.

"The material we are now penetrating is limestone boulders in very wet and slippery earth. We are experiencing considerable trouble with slides, necessitating removal of 10 cubic yards of material to complete a three foot section.

"Drilling ceased at depth of 71 feet. We found limestone bottom after passing through six feet of loose mud and there is no necessity for drilling further. Limestone rock leads southwest, which is in our favor and is in accord with calculations."

"Work is being pushed to utmost with specially picked labor. Weather favorable and morale of men excellent."

"J. T. Johnson, night foreman, completely exhausted from tireless efforts, was forced to return to his home in West Virginia. Volunteer labor is plentiful and of high standard, being composed of veterans of last week. The athletes from Western Kentucky Normal school, are especially conspicuous."

Numerous Letters Pouring Into League Headquarters to Furnish Ammunition for Campaign

WANT DEPARTMENT SAVED

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 10—With the slogan "the probation department must be saved," the Indiana League of Women voters today had its campaign in defense of the department in full swing.

Numerous letters are pouring into league headquarters to furnish ammunition for the campaign, according to officials of the League.

"I am very much in favor of the department as it is now operated," wrote Judge Roscoe Wheat of the Pay circuit court, who has a record of more than fifty per cent reduction in juvenile work in the county after two years cooperation with the department.

"The work of the past two years has become known over the county among the boys and girls to an extent that our troubles have been greatly reduced," he said.

"Before we had the state probation department there was no correlation of effort," wrote Judge E. M. Morton of Laporte county.

"The department has stressed the point of probation as a savings to the taxpayer with the result that we have reduced our population in institutions to a very considerable extent."

Truth Makes Free: Then said Jesus, if ye continue in my word, then are ye my disciples indeed; and ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free. John 8: 31-32.

Protection From Road Hogs

The automobile driver who exercises good judgment and common sense would be protected from road hogs and reckless drivers by the bill introduced by Representative Lafuze of Liberty which is ready for passage in the lower house of the Indiana general assembly.

One of the provisions of the bill is that it shall be considered reckless driving for a motorist to refuse to give half of the road to another machine approaching from the rear at a higher rate of speed. The measure also provides that it shall be considered reckless driving for a motorist to drive on the left side of the road except when passing another machine.

The Lafuze bill is a codification of the present state motor laws. In addition to incorporating the present features of the law the measure seeks to correct many of the evils that now exist and for which there is no remedy in the statutes.

Power is given in the proposed law for the secretary of state to revoke the license of any person convicted for speeding or reckless driving. It would also permit of the revocation of a license of any person mentally or physically incapacitated.

Greater powers would be given to the motor police in enforcing the motor laws. At present the law restricts motor police to detection of stolen machines, and enforcement of the laws requiring a license and a certificate of title.

Poison by Mistake

Almost every day the newspapers give accounts of someone taking poison by mistake. The average person reads the news of the untimely death and if it makes any impression at all, there is a mental note, "How foolish," or something of the sort, and it is dismissed from the mind.

But the same fate awaits most people, if they do not profit by the lesson that such accidents teach.

So long as human beings are subject to bodily ills, just so long will they have home remedies at hand, and in the stock of remedies of the majority of households is everything from a spring tonic to bichloride of mercury tablets.

We are all agreed that it is foolish, but look at your own home medicine chest and see if you do not find the same mix-up there.

It is next to impossible to expect people not to keep poisons around the house, but the proper precautions should be taken to prevent useless loss of life.

No bottle containing poison should be kept in a medicine chest, even though it is properly labeled, because every time you place a bottle of poison in a medicine chest, you are flirting with death.

The only sure protection against error is to keep all bottles or boxes filled with poison, securely tied up in a box with heavy string. Then the person trying to take medicine in haste will realize the mistake.

Put your poisons where they are difficult to reach and the difficulty will automatically warn you. This is the only safe way. Any other course is foolhardy.

Hunt's Washington Letter

BY HARRY B. HUNT
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON — Brig. Gen. "Billy" Mitchell is always ready to "take a chance." That quality, perhaps more than any other, was responsible for his rapid promotion in the army air service. Everything man has accomplished in the air has been accomplished by the fellow willing to "take a chance." And to these accomplishments Mitchell has contributed no little.

The situation in which Mitchell now finds himself embroiled, with court martial, demotion or dismissal from his post as assistant chief of the army air service openly hinted, is the direct result of his willingness to "take a chance" to advance the cause of aviation.

FROM Mitchell's viewpoint the development of aviation as an invaluable arm of America's military defenses is handicapped and hamstrung by being under the jurisdiction of old-time army and navy officers who went through West Point and Annapolis when the idea of "flying machines" was still a joke.

These men were taught that the ground army and the capital ship navy constituted the main arms of national defense, and that everything else must be made subordinate.

Convinced in his own mind that America's supremacy in the air, in a military way, can only be brought about by the creation of an air force independent of either army or navy, Mitchell has taken the only course open to him by which to get national attention for his proposal.

As an officer in a subordinate branch of the army, whatever recommendations or arguments he might make to his superiors in the service could easily be—and he says were—suppressed.

But his testimony before the special committee of Congress investigating aircraft conditions was an open record.

There and only there lay his opportunity for a full public statement of his views. He knew the danger to himself such a course would invite, but—

He "took a chance."

ME have been shot at sunrise for saying less damaging things about the army and navy than Mitchell said. Had he said them within the confines of the war and navy building, he would have been brought before a drum-head court martial forthwith.

But, said before a congressional committee, in the presence of the public and newspaper representatives, the hands of his military superiors were, temporarily at least, stayed.

If Mitchell can make his case stick with the committee and the public, drastic action against him will still be frustrated. If he fails in this, the dashing air fighter will find himself add his independent air service proposal brought down in flames—another object lesson to the orthodox who feel inclined to "take a chance."

MY VALENTINE

by Hal Cochran

GOD gave me a Valentine, long, long ago.
It's mine so I guess I'm the one who should know.

The love and the heart, in full measure, were there,
And sweetness surrounded it—sweetness to spare.

A simple affair, yet it's well worth its weight!
In gold, is the Valentine, values so great.

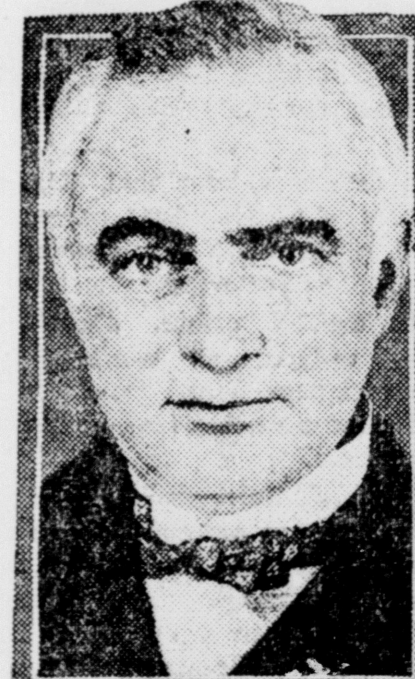

With love did it come and with love does it stay,
And fully as real as of always today.

I'm rich in this Valentine; yea, so are you,
For all have been given this sweetheart type, too.

How easy to guess it; there can be no other,
Each person's real Valentine simply is Mother.

"A man must live," Richard Dix's second starring picture for Paramount, is the feature at the Princess theatre together with a gang comedy.

The production, adapted by James Ashmore Creelman from the story, "Jungle Law," by I. A. R. Wylie, also marks Paul Sloane's debut as a motion picture director.

Dix in "A Man Must Live," portrays what is said to be "the screen's first real newspaper reporter." As Geoffrey Farnell, Dix returns from the World War and gets a job on a newspaper, edited by a man to whom another's misfortune is his good fortune. Jeff feels the pinch of poverty. He falls upon a story that promises to be the greatest thing his paper ever ran. But it means the exposure and ruin of a fellow who served at his side in France—a man "honorable dead" in the eyes of the world.

"Well, a man must live," says Farnell, and with that we leave you to draw your own conclusions.

Baby Peggy at Castle

Familiar stories are often the most popular material for film plays, just as old familiar songs are often the most popular with a mixed audience.

"The Family Secret," the Universal-Jewel production starring Baby Peggy, which opened last night at the Castle theatre, is an adaptation of "Editha's Burglar," a famous novel by Frances Hodgson Burnett, who wrote "Little Lord Fauntleroy," "A Lady of Quality" and many other successes. It was this same novel that formed the basis of the first big stage success by Augustus Thomas.

How much the story has been changed in the Universal picturization of it in order to make it a suitable starring vehicle for Baby Peggy the writer has no means of telling as he is not one of the legions who have read Mrs. Burnett's novel, but the picture offers a great deal of entertainment on its own merits, regardless of that fact.

Miss Venus Maze of this city and Theodore Smith of Shelbyville were united in marriage this morning by Justice of Peace, J. P. Stech, at his office in the court house.

All members of the D. A. R. who are planning to attend the banquet to be given February 20 at the Social Club, are requested to make their reservations before Monday, to Mrs. Earl Moore.

The Tri Kappa sorority will be entertained Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Hale Pearsey. As this will be an important meeting, all the members are urged to be present. The meeting will begin at 7:30 o'clock.

The Psi Iota Xi sorority will be entertained with a six o'clock dinner Thursday evening by Mrs. Paul Phillips, Mrs. Floyd Kirkin and Miss Esther Anderson. The place will be announced later.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Marklev entertained with a dinner party Friday evening at their home in this city the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. G. E. McAlister and their house guest James McAlister of Cleveland, Ohio. The dining table was prettily decorated with flowers and the evening was spent in playing cards.

According to an item in a Fort Wayne paper Friday, a wedding of much interest to friends and relatives in this city was solemnized at the St. John's Evangelist Lutheran church there, when Miss Esther Steiss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Steiss, became the bride of R. Harold Havens, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Havens, of that city, and formerly of this city. The couple were attended by Miss Alma Steiss, a cousin of the bride, and Max Havens, a brother of the groom. Following the beautiful wedding a reception was held for the bridal couple at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Havens left on a short wedding trip after which they will be at home to their friends in Fort Wayne, where the groom is employed as an engraver with the Bond Engraving company. CONFLICTS AMONG BUDGET MAKERS

Members of Committee Differ in Opinions Regarding Administration $45,000,000 Appropriation Bill

1 MEMBER WANTS INCREASE

Declares $1,000,000 Must be Added or Special Session of Legislature Will be Necessary

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 14—Conflicting opinions developed today among budget makers over the administration $46,000,000 appropriations bill.

Most of the members of the senate finance and house ways and means committee were hopeful of keeping the figure of the budget bill intact at the request of the governor.

One member of the budget advisory committee, however, declared that at least $1,000,000 in specific appropriations must be added to the present budget bill or a special session of the legislature during the next two years will be inevitable.

Cuts in the appropriations asked by the Terre Haute Normal, the state reformatory and the Easthaven asylum at Richmond would be false economy at this time, the member declared.

Should an additional million be granted, the appropriations bill would be brought to a point where the reductions over the 1923 appropriations would be wiped out.

Already various departments and institutions have requested increases of approximately $1,400,000.

It was said by one of the budget framers today that Governor Jackson and legislative leaders will stand firm against the establishment of a branch of the state normal in the northern part of the state at this session of the assembly.

Questions To Be Answered
At St. Paul's M. E. Church

In the prelude to the sermon at St. Paul's M. E. church on Sunday evening the pastor will answer the following questions.

What do you think of the Cross Word Puzzles?

Ought not liability insurance be a condition of granting automobile licenses?

Is it morally right for a man to say "day by day in every way I am getting better and better," when he knows that he isn't?

Is Rushville growing better?
Do you think that all church members have been converted? How may a man know that he has been converted?

The topic of the sermon will be "Lost—A Man, a successful Business Man. Impossible? Come and see." Miss Helen Jaehne will sing.

MUSIC MEMORY CONTEST

OVERTURE—"EGMONT"
By Ludwig Van Beethoven
(1770-1827)

Ludwig van Beethoven stands out as one of the master geniuses of music. Like many of the other composers, his early life was full of hardships, but in his struggles with these he came out victorious. His father wanted to make him a boy musical wonder like Mozart, and so Ludwig was made to study the harpsichord at the age of four. At first he disliked his music lesson, but new and better teachers were called in, so he became more interested in music and began to play the organ. His mother took him on a concert tour through Holland, and at twelve years he was conducting an orchestra and writing music. One of the greatest events in his youth was his trip to Vienna, at the age of seventeen, to see the great Mozart. He came home greatly encouraged after talking with and playing for the "Little Master". Beethoven now gave music lessons to the best families. His fame as a player and composer increased and he moved to Vienna, where for a time he studied under "Papa" Haydn. The piano was taking the place of the harpsichord and spinet, and Beethoven became the famous pianist of his time. He suffered a misfortune in becoming deaf. When he died in Vienna on March 26, 1827, he was universally mourned.

The overture opens with an introduction which foreshadows the main incident of the opening allegro. The first subject is of a two-fold character, which seems to typify egmont as a hero, and also as a lover; this is followed by a phrase which tells of the hero's longing for action. As this phrase gradually unfolds, it is taken up by the whole orchestra and brought to a mighty climax. The second subject is said to represent Clara, the brave young sweetheart of Egmont, and tells of her love for him. The Free Fantasia, or working out of the subjects, is followed by the regulation Recapitulation, and a Coda which Beethoven called "The Symphony of Victory." This is based on the first subject, which is given first without harmony, then with the counterpoint above, and lastly in the highest part and seems "to burn" with the enthusiasm of patriotism.

A MIDSUMMER NIGHT'S DREAM
By Felix Mendelssohn
(1809-1847)

Mendelssohn unlike most other composers, he was never in want, and never had to battle with the world for recognition. He was another boy wonder. His father was a wealthy Jewish banker of Hamburg, Germany, where Felix was born in 1809. Together with his two sisters and a brother he was given music lessons by his talented mother, and at ten could play works of the great composers. He then became a pupil of Zelter, a great teacher of piano, who took him to Weimar, the home of Goethe, Germany's greatest poet. Goethe and Felix became great friends. Mendelssohn visited England, where he was immensely popular as a conductor and composer. He also visited Scotland and Italy, and told his impressions of those countries in overtures and symphonies. Later he took up his residence in Leipzig, where he became concert-director. He composed many religious songs which reflect the calm even faith of his Lutheran religion. His death occurred in Leipzig in 1847, shortly after the death of his favorite sister, Fanny.

This beautiful number is usually played at the end of the second act of Mendelssohn's setting of "A Midsummer-Night's Dream." Hermia awakes to find Lysander gone, and starts on her fruitless search for him. This lovely movement, which seemingly expresses the conflict of emotions in Hermia's heart, is played by the first violins, which are answered by the flute and clarinet. The theme then abruptly changes to the semi-comic measures of the "Clown's March," which is here intoned by the bassoons, the clarinets playing in thirds. This prepares the audience for the entrance of Bottom and his fellows, who begin their rehearsal in the woods.

GINGS SCHOOL

Hi-Y

The Hi-Y club held its regular meeting Tuesday night at the school building. The boys of the seventh and eighth grades were extended an invitation to attend and several accepted.

Two speakers were on the program. Arthur Cortner spoke upon "Our Relation to Athletics." He made a plea for good sportsmanship, whether we be participants or spectators. The second speaker was Glen Foster of the American National Bank of Rushville who spoke upon "Thrifty." Perhaps the most striking thing the speaker said was "If saving was as disagreeable as learning to eat an olive the whole world would start a bank account." Among other things Mr. Foster said "thrifty means economy of time and money. Time lost can never be regained. Money may be. It behooves us then as boys to be thrifty and economical of our time as well as of our money. Young people who do not think in terms of thrift are more liable to fail. To be thrifty is a sign of character."

"It is not the amount saved, but the habit formed. It is not the amount taken to the savings bank but the number of trips. No man's success can be measured by the size of his income. The world's successful men came from poor circumstances. From complications of men who are making America it was found that 24 were poor, seventeen in moderate circumstances and nine rich."

The Freshman, Caesar and Junior Latin classes were given the preliminary tests for the Latin contest last Friday.

The sophomore and junior English classes are now taking work in "Written and Spoken English" but will soon begin upon a book of poems as a classic.

We are glad to think that Gings was represented in the choice of music memory notebooks, Helen Kennedy being given second place in the high school division and only because of the insufficient number of records did she not grade first. Lillian Gellard was given third place in the eighth and eighth division.

CENTER SCHOOL

The class in general history has completed the study of the French Revolution. Friday each member of the class gave a report of a character or event connected with the Revolution. The encyclopedia and reference books were in great demand and many very good reports were given. The class is now ready to take up the study of "Europe After the Revolution."

William Benner was chosen as delegate to the Junior Legislative Convention which is to meet at Rushville, February 14.

Lois Trowbridge attended the state legislature at Indianapolis Thursday and Friday.

Mr. Landrus was unable to be at school Thursday forenoon.

For opening exercises Thursday morning the high school enjoyed a query box.

Pupils of Miss Hobbs' and Mr. DeMoss' rooms enjoyed a valentine box Friday afternoon. Also a number of high school pupils were visited by St. Valentine.

On Friday night our basketball teams, accompanied by a few staunch supporters, went to Fairview and defeated the Fairview teams. The Fairview boys put up a good fight, although they were defeated by a score of 21-14. The score of the girls' game was 38-28. Both were very closely contested games.

THE RALEIGH SCHOOL

The last number of our Lyceum course will be here Thursday, Feb. 26. It is given by "The Poors" and will be a musical number. Everyone come.

The Parent-Teacher's meeting was held Thursday evening, Feb. 12 at the gymnasium. A program was given by the school.

Saturday, Feb. 21, an Independent basketball tourney will be held here. The girls of the senior class will serve lunch.

The senior English class have completed the study of "King Lear" and are now taking up the study of Drinkwater's "Abraham Lincoln."

There are five new pupils in the primary room, three in the second grade and two in the first.

Lincoln's birthday was observed Thursday morning in all the rooms.

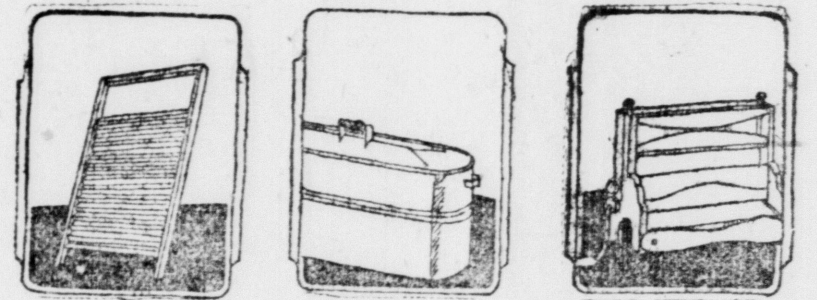

The eighth grade have taken up the study of square root and have found it very interesting.

Misses Helen Mae Carson and Opheelia K. Heath, who are attending Madam Blaker's school, visited school Thursday.

The straight "A" students are: Wilma Bridgeman, Pervia Zimmerman, Ruby Stewart, Edwin Craig and Fred Newkirk.

Ever buy a wooden nutmeg?

A HUCKSTER stopped at Grandmother's door. "Any nutmegs today, lady?"

In the tray before him he displayed his wares big, beautiful nutmegs, and at a ridiculously low price.

Being fond of nutmegs's spicy flavor, and seeing an opportunity to stock up on them to advantage, Grandmother bought generously.

There was to be rice pudding for supper. Grandmother took the golden-brown beauty from the oven and prepared to give it its finishing touch—a sprinkling of nutmeg. Out came the grater and one of the new nutmegs. She scraped and looked puzzled. Scraped again, and looked closer. Sawdust!! The nutmegs were made of wood.

How far from such methods we have traveled in these days of advertised merchandise. The merchant of today signs his name to what he says about what he sells. He knows that when you come to buy you will expect the goods in his store to be what he has said. He knows that if he deceives you once, your trade is gone forever.

Wooden nutmegs never could have been advertised.

HOPE RUNS HIGH OF BRINGING COLLINS OUT ALIVE AT ANY TIME

Cheered by Statements of Miners Who Went Into Cave, Men Sinking Shaft Work Furiously

SIGNS OF LIFE ARE HEARD

Gasping Groan From Entombed Man is Described by Those Penetrating Cork-Screw Hole

SHORT CUT CAVERN NEAR

Cavity Nine Feet Deep at 60-Foot Level is Revealed—Dynamite May be Used

(By United Press)

Sand Cave, Ky., Feb. 14—The shaft driven toward the cavern where Floyd Collins has been entombed for fifteen days, has reached a point within three feet of the roof of the strange tomb, engineers in charge of the rescue work said today. The roof is about three feet thick, they estimated. Hence they are now within six feet of the passage leading to Collins.

"We expect to reach the limestone roof of Collins' passage way within the next three feet," the statement asserted. "Three feet below that we should break into the cavern." This according to H. T. Carmichael, in direct charge of the pit, was indicated by their survey.

(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

At the Mouth of Sand Cave, Ky., Feb. 14—Hope that Floyd Collins may be brought from the depths of Sand Cave alive ran high again over these bleak Kentucky hills today.

Accessed by sworn statements of miners who went into the cavern which Collins entered 15 days ago, skilled miners sinking a shaft toward the entombed explorer hoped for his rescue at any time.

Men who penetrated the cork-screw hole toward Collins' passage said they distinctly heard a gasping groan from the entombed man. They made the statement under oath before the board of inquiry investigating rescue efforts.

A short cut cavern which would make unnecessary the long grind of drilling and drifting is expected to be uncovered today. H. T. Carmichael, in charge of the digging operations, announced today.

A test drill placed eight feet from the shaft being sunk toward the rock prison of Collins revealed a cavity.

JUNIOR CONVENTION IS IN BALLOTTING DEADLOCK

Fails to Elect Representative to Junior State Legislature up to the Twelfth Ballot

ELIMINATION PROCESS USED

The county convention of school delegates, meeting here today at the court house to elect a representative to represent the Rush county schools in the Junior state legislature next month in Indianapolis, appeared to be deadlocked on the twelfth ballot at 11:30 this morning.

Four candidates started in the race and for a time Miss Naomi Nash of Gings was leading, but did not have a sufficient number to put her across. On the third ballot the two low candidates were voted upon, and one eliminated.

Lawrence Davison for Rushville was dropped on the sixth ballot when the low candidate was automatically eliminated. Rushville then put Lamoine Perkins in the race. The process of elimination was to continue until the representative was selected.

Two motions were lost, when an attempt was made to adjourn for a few minutes, and the balloting kept on. The rules and regulations sent by the state department, provided for the election, and the method of elimination.

SIX TOWNSHIPS REPRESENTED

School for Girls' Club Leaders is Held at Court House Friday

Ten girls' club leaders representing six townships in Rush county attended a club leaders' school at the assembly room in the court house Friday, in charge of Miss Neva Stephenson of Purdue.

The organization of clubs was outlined and discussed at the morning session, and in the afternoon, a program of work was the topic.

Prospects are now that there will be clubs in ten townships of the county, although four townships where there are leaders, were not represented Friday.

FINISH SURVEY BY WEDNESDAY IS GOAL

Hope Of Modifying Or Lifting Poultry Quarantine Is Seen By Dr. N. G. Wickwire

LETTER TO POULTRY BUYERS

Notified They Must Disinfect Under Federal Or State Inspection—Urged to Act at Once

Finish the survey of Rush county farms by next Wednesday afternoon so that the quarantine on poultry and poultry products may be modified, was the goal placed today before the county veterinarians conducting the survey, by Dr. N. G. Wickwire, federal veterinarian, who was assigned to this county by Dr. R. C. Julien, state veterinarian, when the European fowl pest was discovered in eastern Indiana.

Dr. Wickwire notified all poultry buyers, in a letter mailed today, that all coops, trucks, buildings and equipment where poultry is handled must be cleaned and disinfected under a federal or state man so that when they call for the farmer's poultry, there will be no danger of the poultry plague being spread. Dr. Wickwire believes this is necessary to protect the poultry raiser.

The quarantine can not be modified or raised, it is pointed out, until these instructions are followed out, and for this reason, Dr. Wickwire desires that all buyers make arrangements with him the first of next week to comply with this order so that there will be no delay in lifting the ban that has been in effect since last Saturday, in case the veterinarians finish the survey.

In some townships the survey is nearing completion and some veterinarians have assured Dr. Wickwire that as soon as they finish in their townships, they will assist veterinarians in other townships where there is a greater number of farms, so that the survey can be completed at the earliest possible moment.

So far the fowl pest has not been found in Rush county although there was suspicion of it, which accounted for the hasty visit of Dr. Julien here Friday. He and Dr. Wickwire posted birds on four different farms twelve in all, where there had been extremely heavy losses in poultry flocks.

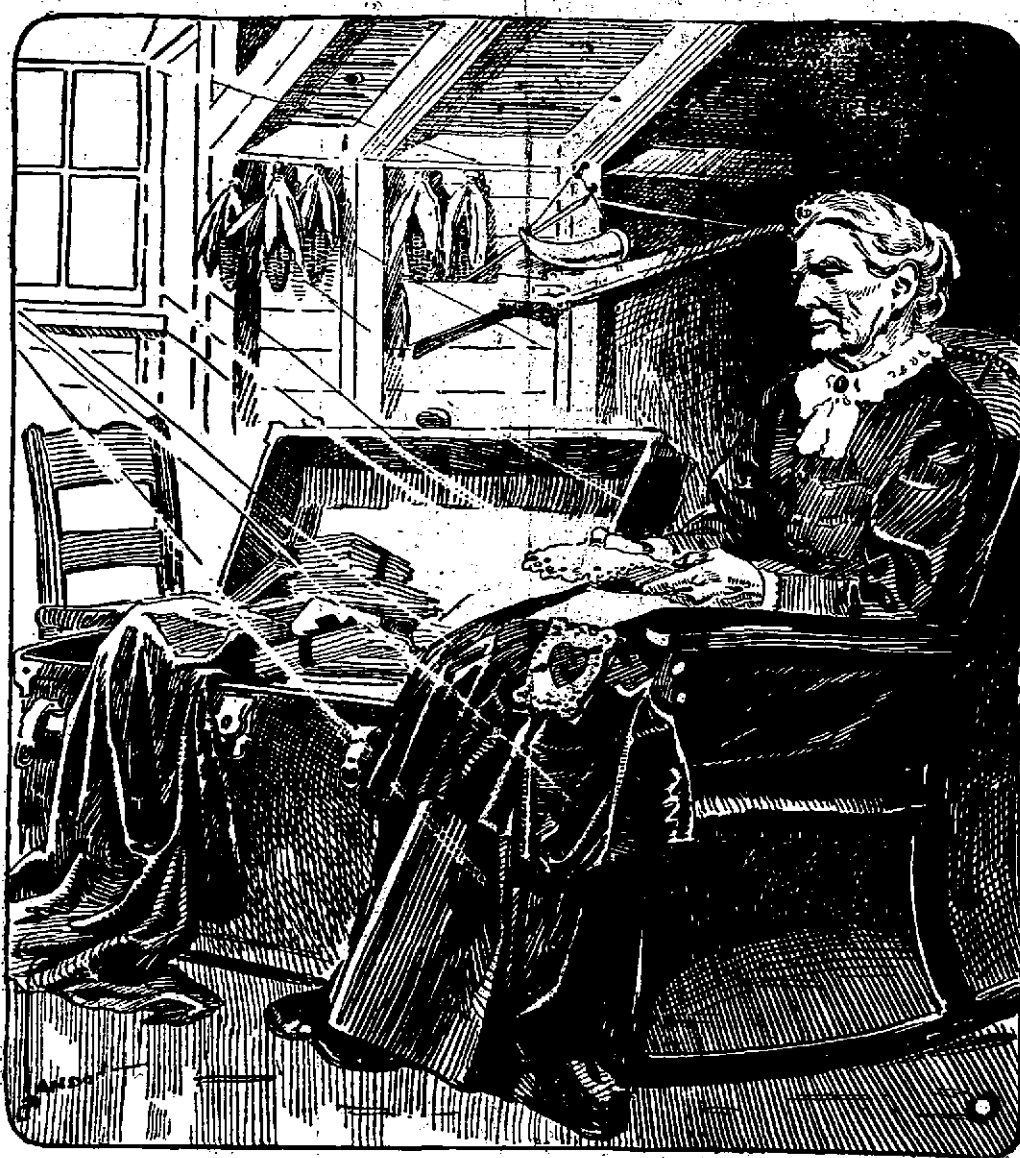

In each instance, chicken cholera was in evidence. Dr. Julien impressed upon the owners in every case that cholera was very contagious and carries a very high death rate, and that isolation of sick birds and sanitation were to be relied upon, as there is little help from medical treatment. Intestinal antiseptics are the best, Dr. Julien pointed out.

Numerous requests have come to the veterinarians and county agent's office from people who have diseased poultry and in every instance a man has been dispatched at the earliest possible moment. These requests, those in charge of the survey say, spells cooperation from the poultry raisers and farmers and is very praiseworthy.

The letter which Dr. Wickwire

Bill Provides Way For Rushville To Acquire a Community Building

Possible for City to Obtain City Hall Fire Station, Basketball Gymnasium and Community Building, all Combined in one Edifice, Through Earnings of Municipal Water and Light Plant.

The city of Rushville can procure a new city hall, fire station, basketball gymnasium and community building, all combined in one large edifice, if a bill introduced in the senate is passed and made a law.

The bill is practically assured of passage. It was introduced by Senator George L. Saunders of Bluffton, and while intended for that city, it also will apply to only a few other Indiana cities having a municipal water and light plant, that is capable of showing an annual surplus earnings.

The only other restriction regards census. This is where Rushville is fortunate, if the proposed bill is passed. The city must have a population, government 1920 census, of not less than 5,000, nor more than 5,500. The cities included between that are Greensburg, Bluffton, Mount Vernon, Rushville and Warsaw. The population of Rushville is 5,498.

One of the purposes of the building plan under the proposed act is to compel the municipal plant to maintain a goal for converting a certain sum annually to retire payments due on the building. In this way, the publicly owned plant would give something in return to the taxpayers, and in a few years would pay out on a city building that would be the pride of the community.

The bill is an interesting one to read, and a copy of it is printed here. The necessary steps are simple, and persons interested in the movement to build a modern building, suitable for all purposes, are urged to boost for the passage of it, and should notify at once, Senator Hill and Representative Trowbridge of this county.

The entire bill is as follows: A bill for an act concerning the erection of city buildings, empowering cities to include in such buildings provisions for community activities, including a room for use as an auditorium, a community hall and gymnasium, and to equip the same; providing a method by which the qualified voters of such cities may vote upon the question of erecting and equipping said building; authorizing said election and providing for the use, management and

Provides any city in Indiana having a municipal water and light plant and with population of not less than 5,000 or more than 5,500, may erect a community building from surplus earnings of such plant, if there are any.

Bill was introduced primarily to fit the case of Bluffton, but it happens that it could be applied in Rushville, as official 1920 census gave Rushville population of 5,498.

If no primary or general election is held in said city within ninety days of the date of filing of said petition, a special election shall be held as provided herein. Said election shall be held at the usual places for hold-

DRYS CONFIDENT OF BILL BEING PASSED

"Bone Dry" Measure Sent to Engrössment in Senate After With-standing Amendment Attacks

ONLY ONE IS ADOPTED

Strikes out Clause to Make it Impossible to Suppress Evidence on Improper Search Warrants

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 14—Governor Jackson today signed two senate bills and three joint resolutions. The bills were Senator Sims bill requiring school authorities to display the American flag on the school building and the Harrison bill authorizing the state conservation department to issue free hunting and fishing licenses to honorably discharged soldiers, sailors and marines.

The joint resolutions proposed three amendments to the state constitution. The proposals have been passed by two legislatures and will now be submitted to popular vote.

The proposed amendments would prevent salary increase for public officials during the term for which they were elected, would take women in apportioning the state for senatorial and representative districts and would require judges to be elected at separate elections.

(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 14—Dry forces were confident today of final passage of the Wright "bone dry" prohibition bill in the senate early next week.

The bill went to engrössment before the week end adjournment late Friday after withstanding a dozen attempts to attach radical amendments.

Only one amendment was adopted on second reading. The amendment strikes out the clause of the bill which sought to make it impossible to suppress evidence of liquor law violations obtained on improperly drawn search warrants.

Through the amendment the provisions of the present law on faulty affidavits and search warrants would be retained.

A roll call was demanded on practically every amendment offered, the contest being close.

A motion made by Senator Sweeney to postpone the bill indefinitely was tabled on motion of Senator Cunn by a vote of 33 to 8.

With two dissenting votes, the senate passed the cooperative marketing bill endorsed by the Indiana Farm Bureau Federation.

A similar bill has passed the house but the senate bill will be sent to the lower branch for concurrence in

GIVE NEEDLESS BILLS CHLOROFORM ROUTE

Twenty Percent of All Bills Introduced in Legislature Have Passed on to Early Grave

ONLY 600 BILLS INTRODUCED

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 14—The chloroform route for needless bills as advocated early in the session of the Indiana legislature by Harry G. Leslie, speaker of the house, has been followed by both houses it is disclosed as the fifth week closes.

Twenty percent of all the bills introduced have already passed on to an early grave. Slightly less than 600 bills have been introduced in the senate and house up to today and of this number 120 have either been killed or withdrawn.

As the session progresses the number of bills introduced will become less each day because it is realized that late comers have very little chance, especially after the appropriation measure gets under way on the floor of the houses. Therefore during the next three weeks it is expected that the killing process will gain in ratio.

The indications are now that this session of the legislature will establish a record on killing bills by formal action. In the past many bills have died in committee.

STATE ROADS DEVELOP WEAK SPOTS DUE TO TRAFFIC OF HEAVY TRUCKS

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 14—Some gravel and stone surfaced state roads developed weak places under heavy truck traffic following the unusually warm weather last Sunday, and if rain comes with warmer temperature following the freeze of February 11, additional failures can be expected.

John D. Williams, highway director, in the commission's traffic bulletin issued today, said that in the event of a gradual rise in temperature and an absence of rain, it will be possible to keep traffic moving over practically the entire system and the roads in fair shape, by limiting loads in cases of extreme warm weather.

Highway officials are treating break as emergency cases, and as fast as they occur rush field forces to make repairs. Cinders, gravel and crushed stone are being used in ear load lots, and where a break is serious, in order to keep traffic moving continuously, the department provides teams to pull machines through.

In the last few days breaks and weak spots have been reported on No. 31 west of Rockville; No. 33 west of Crawfordsville; three on No. 50 in the vicinity of Bass Lake, North Judson and San Pierre; on No. 19 near Alexandria; No. 11 between Eden and Pendleton, and on No. 38 near Jeffersonville. On No. 1 south of Franklin, a 500-foot stretch is closed temporarily to bus and heavy truck traffic, and on the same road the old section between Crothersville and Scottsburg is closed to trucks and busses. Light traffic is going through.

One of the detours on No. 6 between New Bethel and Shelbyville is bad in thawing weather, while a detour on the same road near Lafayette is so soft in thawing weather that traffic is advised not to use it.

These detours can be avoided in thawing weather if traffic will use the following routes: Shelbyville to Indianapolis traffic take county road at Shelbyville to Pointintown, thence on 33 to Indianapolis, Indianapolis to Lafayette traffic take No. 44 from Lebanon via Frankfort to Rossville, thence on 29 to Lafayette.

Indiana's diversified weather is aptly illustrated by field reports on Wednesday. When Indianapolis and the north section was gripped in a blizzard of snow and ice, the frost was all out of the ground in the New Albany district and farmers were plowing.

Surface conditions, detours, etc., for the week of February 14-21 are set forth in the bulletin as follows:

No. 1—Pavement from Indianapolis to Peru. Detour 7 miles north of Kokomo account of bridge repair. (South of Indianapolis bus and heavy traffic is temporarily prohibited from using 500-foot stretch south of Franklin. Old gravel road is closed to busses and trucks between Crothersville and Scottsburg. Light traffic going through.) Turn right at corner of Tipton and O'Brien streets, Seymour, following marked detour via Chestnut Ridge coming out on No. 1 at 7 miles north of Crothersville. Parts of this detour is rough.

No. 2—Pavement from Lincoln Highway west to 21 miles east of Columbia City. Detour marked to Columbia City, 4 miles of which is bad. Pavement from Warsaw east 6 miles, thence detour south via Piereton to old location into Columbia City.

No. 4—One mile of earth road between Dugger and Linton; detour over county road through Dugger in wet weather. Run-around at Busseton dredge ditch 3 miles east of Sullivan is narrow and soft in rainy weather.

No. 5—Construction from junction of 41 and 5 to West Baden; detour over State Roads Nos. 41 and 22.

No. 6—Pavement between Indianapolis and Shelbyville with but two detours around bridge construction, one of which is very poor. Shelbyville to Indianapolis traffic can avoid this detour—passable in dry weather—by taking county road from Shelbyville to Pointintown, thence on No. 39 to Indianapolis. Use pavement from Indianapolis to

3.7 miles north of Lebanon, thence over short detour back to pavement. Detour at 6 miles north of Lebanon to west through Thorntown returning to No. 6 at 3 miles north of Thorntown. Short detour to east at 4 miles north of Thorntown. This last is impassable in thawing weather, so Lebanon to Lafayette traffic should take 44 from Lebanon via Frankfort to Rossville, thence on 29 to Lafayette.

No. 10—Pavement from Evansville to 2 miles north of Hazelton, but traffic must use old bridge over Patoka river at Patoka. Closed at 4 miles north of Veedersburg account paving; detour to east returning to No. 10 at 2 miles south of Attica. (This detour practically impassable when road is thawing.) Detour east at Carbondale account bridge construction. Side detour 1 mile south of Boswell in dry weather; in wet detour to west.

No. 11—Bad breaks in surface between Eden and Pendleton. Roadside run-around at bridge out 2 1/2 miles north of State Road 46.

No. 12—Drive slow over new fill at Fish Creek 4 miles south of Freeport. Bad break between Centerton and Martinsville—one way traffic only.

No. 13—Run-around just south of Hartford City; run-around just south of Bluffton, and run-around at bridge south of Ossian.

No. 14—Earth road from Leopold Junction to St. Croix is impassable at this time.

No. 16—Do not use this road from overhead crossing project just west of Lincoln City, east through Lincoln City, St. Meinrad and St. Croix as leavesworth as it is under construction and earth surface most of the way.

No. 17—Two run-arounds between Ligonier and Kendallville; account bridge construction.

No. 19—Small breaks near Alexandria.

No. 22—Pavement between Indianapolis and Martinsville with one detour and one run-around. Between Laoh and English is 17 miles of earth road impassable to autos at this time. Avoid road south of Transburg account of construction.

No. 24—New grade completed between Palmyra and Salem but go via Frederickburg or Martinsburg in wet weather. (New Albany and Louisville traffic go via Pekin and Martinsburg coming out on 5 at Greenville, in wet weather.)

No. 25—Pavement from Lagrange to within 1 mile of Goshen—Middlebury road. One-half mile detour marked to south. Run-around at bridge construction 8 and 9 miles east of Angola.

No. 28—Earth surface between Sandy Hook and Rodgers; ferry at White river running. Drive carefully at dangerous hill south of Newberry.

No. 29—Soft place between Russellville and Middlefork.

No. 32—Run-around at bridge construction south of Romney.

No. 31—Break in surface east of Rockville.

No. 33—Side detour around bridge at 5 miles east of Crawfordsville. Bad break in surface west of Crawfordsville.

No. 38—Surface break near Sellersburg.

No. 40—Two miles detour starting at 6 miles east of Scottsburg account overhead construction at B. and O. Railroad, is poor. Five miles of coarse stone between Ireland and Cato. Good detour is marked around this.

No. 41—Traffic use new grade over Willow Valley Hill except in wet weather, then use old road.

No. 50—Surface breaks near North Judson, Bass Lake and San Pierre.

vity nine feet deep at the 60 foot level.

The drill, only an inch in diameter, could show how wide this cavern is. Carnichael hopes it may be large enough to admit a rescue party. They will widen it with dynamite if necessary.

Workers hope that the cavity may lead into Collins' prison or may be the same one in which he lies. Collins, according to revised estimate, is almost on the same level with it.

Brig. Gen. H. H. Denhardt, military commander, caused tremendous excitement late yesterday when he announced that Edwin Brenner, Cincinnati, had gone down the original tunnel, choked near Collins' well fallen stone and had heard Collins' gasp. Brenner, a former miner, volunteered for the work, Denhardt said.

It developed later that this was the cause of the flurry of excitement which swept the country around noon yesterday.

An excited officer, about that time, ordered all workmen and newspapermen back from the pit and rumors started that Collins had been saved.

Denhardt announced later that men had been ordered back so that Brenner, listening far below after crawling through the barred tunnel, could hear any possible sound from Collins. Brenner's statement was read into the records of the court martial of inquiry into rescue work scandals which was being held today in a tent at the scene. A sentry paces before the door. Every outsider, including newspaper men is excluded.

After a lengthy session late yesterday Denhardt called in the newspaper men and informed them of Brenner's discovery. Officers of the inquiry announced themselves convinced that Collins still lives.

The official communique issued early today reads:

"Depth of the shaft is 52 feet at top of timber, leaving a three foot section at the bottom to be timbered."

"The material we are now penetrating is limestone boulders in very wet and slippery earth. We are experiencing considerable trouble with slides, necessitating removal of 10 cubic yards of material to complete a three foot section."

"Drilling ceased at depth of 71 feet. We found limestone bottom after passing through six feet of loose mud and there is no necessity for drilling further. Limestone rock leads southwest, which is in our favor and is in accord with calculations."

"Work is being pushed to utmost with specially picked labor. Weather favorable and morale of men excellent."

"J. T. Johnson, night foreman, completely exhausted from tireless efforts, was forced to return to his home in West Virginia. Volunteer labor is plentiful and of high standard, being composed of veterans of last week. The athletes from Western Kentucky Normal school, are especially conspicuous."

WOMEN IN FAVOR OF PROBATION OFFICE

Numerous Letters Pouring Into League Headquarters to Furnish Ammunition for Campaign

WANT DEPARTMENT SAVED

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 10—With the slogan "the probation department must be saved," the Indiana League of Women voters today had its campaign in defense of the department in full swing.

Numerous letters are pouring into league headquarters to furnish ammunition for the campaign, according to officials of the League.

"I am very much in favor of the department as it is now operated," wrote Judge Roscoe Wheat of the Pay circuit court, who has a record of more than fifty per cent reduction in juvenile work in the county after two years cooperation with the department.

"The work of the past two years has become known over the county among the boys and girls to an extent that our troubles have been greatly reduced," he said.

"Before we had the state probation department there was no correlation of effort," wrote Judge E. M. Morton of Laporte county.

"The department has stressed the point of probation as a savings to the taxpayer with the result that we have reduced our population in institutions to a very considerable extent."

Indianapolis — Claiming that foxes are not the destructive "critters" as painted by some, the "Red Ranger" sporting magazine, is planning a campaign to stop the "ruthless, cruel, and inhuman" drives that have been held in various parts of the state to exterminate the animals.

Evansville—Declaring that "The Devil's Disciple," George Bernard Shaw's famous play, if staged by the Evansville Drama League as planned, would expose "boys and girls of the city to 'influences,'" Rev. A. R. Stone has started a fight against its production.

Lafayette—Charles Schwingel, alleged Texas land shark who was arrested here on complaint of D. S. Maynard, Delaware county farmer, "freed" him out of $12,000 and his farms, Maynard said.

PULL GAME OUT IN LAST HALF

Lions Show Stuff it Takes to Bring Home Victory and Defeat Connersville Friday Night, 39 to 34

DOUBLE SCORE LAST HALF

Entering Game With Seven-Point
Margin Against Them, They Pile up 24 to Connersville's 12

The Rushville Roarin' Lions, playing in old time form, and displaying a good brand of basketball, took the Connersville high school team down the line at a merry clip Friday night, on the gym floor in that city, winning out in the last 8 minutes of play by the score of 39 to 34.

Rushville outplayed the Connersville team in the last half, and doubled the score on them, making 24 points to their 12 points, and the first half saw Connersville having the best of the argument, 22 to 15.

It was one of those games that held the interest from the very first whistle, with first one team in the lead, and then the other, but for a time in the first half, Connersville was away out in front 20 to 11. The Lions fought on, and after catching up with them, the two teams were on even terms until Rushville took the spurt and counted the victory.

Connersville has improved wonderfully since their game in this city, and it takes a real team to down them. Keller at center is a dangerous goal shot and counted 15 of their points. Every player on their team fought hard, and they would have won the game, if the locals had not tightened up on their defense, and made close shots impossible for them.

The Rushville team showed the old fight and spirit which characterized many of their victories in the earlier part of the season. They had the team work, defense and scrappy floor work that brought the ball down the floor for shots. Lakin, who played first at forward and then at center, had his eye for the basket, and led in scoring with 9 field goals.

Arbuckle made 4 baskets, all under much difficulty, and his running mate, Newbold counted 3 times, and had not gotten a good start when the game ended. Davison started at center, and held the place like a veteran, with Osborne playing floor guard for almost the entire game, and he fitted in the place in excellent style.

Cherry started at back guard, and deserves much credit for the showing he made. Newbold and Miller went in toward the end of the first half, relieving Davison and Cherry. Osborne suffered an injury when the game had six minutes left, and McNamara who was on the bench nursing a lame leg, finished in the place.

Every player in the game contributed in the victory, and the boys deserve much praise because Connersville is a team that has been taking the measure of many teams here recently and is rated high.

Soon after the game got under way, Lakin scored a nice one that was worked to him under the basket by Davison. After a few passes, Stelle scored one for Connersville. Cherry fouled, but Hamilton missed. Keller dropped one in from near the foul line, which seemed to be his favorite place, and the score was 4 to 2, with Connersville leading.

Ridge, fouled, Osborne scored one of the two chances, and Arbuckle came down the side for a shot, putting Rushville ahead 5 to 4. Davison scored from under the basket, making it 7 to 4 and Connersville called time. The game had been under way for 7 minutes. When play resumed, Higgs, back guard for Connersville, dropped in a long one. Osborne fouled Stelle, who made both shots, and his team went ahead, 8 to 7.

Keller scored again for Connersville that brought the fans to their feet and Rushville took time out. When the ball was tossed again, Lakin scored on a nice one, making the score 10 to 9, with Connersville still ahead. Lakin fouled Ridge, but he missed both shots, and on the last attempt, Hamilton tapped the ball in, making the two points on a field goal and keeping Connersville ahead, 12 to 9. Davison made another field goal, that gave Rushville 11, and Connersville 12.

Keller and Ridge scored goals, and Stelle fouled Osborne, who was given two chances. He missed the first, and Connersville called time out. He then missed his second shot when play resumed in two minutes after the rest period.

Both teams were playing whirlwind ball, taking the ball up and down the floor at a fast clip. Keller and Hamilton each scored again, boosting the score to 20, and leaving Rushville behind at 11. Four minutes was left for the half. Lakin made a goal, putting the count 20 to 13. Rushville substituted at this point, sending Newbold in for Davison and Miller for Cherry. In the shift, Lakin went to center.

Before the half ended, Lakin scored and Stelle matched the goal, making the score 22 to 17 at the half.

Then began the second half with a bang. Rushville opened up real team work and Lakin scored twice, followed by Arbuckle, and Connersville called time, with the score 22 to 21 in their favor. After their rest, Hamilton scored, giving them 24 to 21. Ridge fouled, and Miller missed, but Lakin made the foul good for two points, when he tossed it in for a field goal, and the score was 24 to 23, Connersville leading.

Osborne put Rushville ahead 25 to 24 with a goal, and the score went to 27 to 24, when Lakin again counted from the field. Lakin fouled Keller, who made one of the shots. Hamilton soon added another point when Miller fouled him, and the score was 29 to 26, with Rushville in the lead.

Keller scored for Connersville from his favorite spot, and when Miller fouled Ridge, the score was tied at 29, but Ridge missed his second shot. Keller put Connersville ahead, 31 to 29, on a field goal, and the Connersville crowd went wild. Rushville took time out for two minutes, and there was 9 1/2 minutes left to play. It took Lakin to tie the score on the next tip-off.

Then Newbold hit the basket, putting Rushville ahead 33 to 31. Osborne fouled Hamilton who was given two shots, but he missed one, and the score was 33 to 32, with Rushville leading. Newbold scored again, putting Rushville 35 to Connersville 32.

At this point Osborne received an injury to his knee and after the ball was in play, it was found out that he could not finish, and McNamara went in, with about 4 minutes left. Newbold scored again from under the basket, making the count 37 to 32, and Arbuckle followed close behind with another shot under the basket, making the score 39 to 32. Keller intercepted a pass near his basket, and shot a goal for Connersville, making the score 39 to 34, and the game ended the game, with the ball in Rushville's territory.

Cubs Double Score

The Rushville second team started things off for a big night for Rushville, when they downed the Connersville second team in the curtain raiser to the big game at Connersville, with the final count being 39 to 12.

The local second team grabbed a lead early in the game and was ahead 7 to 4 at the half. In the last half, they settled down and dropped in many good shots. The floor work of the local team was good, and they managed to work the ball around in their territory in fine shape.

FAMOUS LAST WORDS

Tame them Lions!

Too bad every Friday can't be the thirteenth.

—and that's another battle we didn't lose on the 13th.

That sure was nice going, you Lions. You are to be congratulated. Everyone of you played a great game, and share in the glory of the successful victory. Let's keep up the ole snap, and go on through to the very end.

Let's plan that trip to Niagara Falls and New York.

Connersville is a tuff proposition. Any team that takes them, sure knows they have been some place. They had the fight all of the time, and anyone who saw the game knows that it was a thriller, and a game that holds one to the end.

Those bear stories turned out to be Lion stimulants. The Rushville team was considerably disarranged this week on account of sickness. Wonder what the score would have been if they had been feeling good?

Side Lights said it was a great game. He admitted it was a hard one to lose, but said that it was no disgrace to drop a game like that, and that is sure the spirit, but as he has said before after such fatalities, you "can't win 'em all."

Free Throws in the Press at Connersville, kept calling Rushville the Graham Crackers all week. Said they were soggy. We put 'em in the oven and freshened 'em up a bit for the Ikimik lunch last night.

Gym Filled to Capacity

Four hundred or more Rushville people accompanied the team, and were admitted at the north door. The gym was crowded to the limit, and 3,000 were estimated to be in the place. Hundreds were turned away. It was the largest crowd that has ever attended a game there.

Good sportsmanship prevailed among the fans and the players. The crowd was well handled and there was no signs of razzing the officials, Miller and Best, who received much creditable comment. The old time rivalry, of the bitter type, has disappeared, and even in defeat the Connersville people took their medicine like real sports.

Th two teams played great ball. There was no roughness, although the game was marked by speed. Rushville was given only 5 chances on fouls, and made good one of them. Connersville was given 13 chances and made 6. Not a player was in danger of going out of the game on account of fouls.

Connersville has improved many times since their appearance in Rushville. Their weak places have been ironed out, and you can look for them to be among those present at the state tourney.

While every Rushville player went big, and deserves an equal amount of credit, yet if Hittin' 'em had an honor roll, we'd place Lakin on it this week for making 9 baskets. He sure had his eyes on the net, and made 'em count.

PAT 'EM ALL ON THE BACK AND TELL 'EM TO KEEP IT UP

Let's build that new gym right away.

Next week, let's plough thru Carthage and Garfield in the same manner. Play 'em like they were Passaic, or Hasensack.

Those Nightingales expect to wallop Carthage tonight on the Blue Bird court, but probably that Carthage team has something different in mind.

Those four traction car loads of Connersville basketball fans will pass through Rushville at 3:45 this afternoon, enroute to Franklin. It's a long way to go to get licked.

And Richmond wants to advise us that Morton is going to beat the Ikimiks of Connersville, which is all right with us. But in enosing an elimination, we must admit that Connersville appears a bit stronger team on paper.

—Vincennes Sun

Fourteen Indiana teams are taking part in the Tri-State basketball tourney in Cincinnati this week end. Most of the teams entered are second teams. No Moscow didn't go this year. They went one year, and forgot to enter the own tourney in Indiana, and lost out all of the way around.

IT WILL BE QUITE A FAMILY GATHERING HERE MARCH 6-7 WITH ALL OF THE COUNTY TEAMS TAKING PART IN THE SECTIONAL. THERE ARE 13 TEAMS, AND 12 ARE EXPECTED TO ENTER.

CONFLICTS AMONG BUDGET MAKERS

Members of Committee Differ in Opinions Regarding Administration $46,000,000 Appropriation Bill

1 MEMBER WANTS INCREASE

Declares $1,000,000 Must be Added or Special Session of Legislature Will be Necessary

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 14—Conflicting opinions developed today among budget makers over the administration $46,000,000 appropriations bill.

Most of the members of the senate finance and house ways and means committee were hopeful of keeping the figure of the budget bill intact at the request of the governor.

One member of the budget advisory committee, however, declared that at least $1,000,000 in specific appropriations must be added to the present budget bill or a special session of the legislature during the next two years will be inevitable.

Cuts in the appropriations asked by the Terre Haute Normal, the state reformatory and the Easthaven asylum at Richmond would be false economy at this time, the member declared.

Should an additional million be granted, the appropriations bill would be brought to a point where the reductions over the 1923 appropriations would be wiped out.

Already various departments and institutions have requested increases of approximately $1,400,000.

It was said by one of the budget framers today that Governor Jackson and legislative leaders will stand firm against the establishment of a branch of the state normal in the northern part of the state at this session of the assembly.

DRYS CONFIDENT OF BILL BEING PASSED

The senate also passed the Penrod bill to codify fish and game laws. Backed by representatives from rural districts, the Carney oleomargarine bill was passed by a vote of 60 to 24 in the house.

Under the bill places selling oleomargarine would be required to display signs to that effect and the use of oleomargarine would be required to display signs to that effect and the use of oleomargarine for inmates of state institutions under 16 years of age would be prohibited.

A county unit education bill was introduced in the house by Representative DeHaven of Indianapolis. The bill is practically identical to the Stelle county unit bill which was killed in the senate earlier in the session.

FIVE ASPIRANTS FOR MAYOR

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 14—Five candidates were in the race today for the nomination for mayor of Indianapolis. William Frye, head of a transfer company, announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination, making the fourth G. O. P. aspirant. One Democrat has formally announced his candidacy.

What do you think of the Cross Word Puzzles?

Ought not liability insurance be a condition of granting automobile licenses?

Is it morally right for a man to say "day by day in every way I am getting better and better," when he knows that he isn't?

Is Rushville growing better?

Do you think that all church members have been converted? How many a man know that he has been converted?

MUSIC MEMORY CONTEST

OVERTURE—"EGMONT"
By Ludwig Van Beethoven
(1770-1827)

Ludwig van Beethoven stands out as one of the master geniuses of music. Like many of the other composers, his early life was full of hardships, but in his struggles with these he came out victorious. His father wanted to make him a boy musical wonder like Mozart, and so Ludwig was made to study the harpsichord at the age of four. At first he disliked his music lesson, but new and better teachers were called in, so he became more interested in music and began to play the organ. His mother took him on a concert tour through Holland, and at twelve years he was conducting an orchestra and writing music. One of the greatest events in his youth was his trip to Vienna, at the age of seventeen, to see the great Mozart. He came home greatly encouraged after talking with and playing for the "little master." Beethoven now gave music lessons to the best families. His fame as a player and composer increased and he moved to Vienna, where for a time he studied under "Papa" Haydn. The piano was taking the place of the harpsichord and spinet, and Beethoven became the famous pianist of his time. He suffered a misfortune in becoming deaf. When he died in Vienna on March 26, 1827, he was universally mourned.

The overture opens with an introduction which foreshadows the main incident of the opening allegro. The first subject is of a two-fold character, which seems to typify egmont as a hero, and also as a lover; this is followed by a phrase which tells of the hero's longing for action. As this phrase gradually unfolds, it is taken up by the whole orchestra and brought to a mighty climax. The second subject is said to represent Clara, the brave young sweetheart of Egmont, and tells of her love for him. The Free Fantasia, or working out of the subjects, is followed by the regulation recapitulation, and a Coda which Beethoven called "The Symphony of Victory." This is based on the first subject, which is given first without harmony, then with the counterpoint above, and lastly in the highest part and seems "to burn" with the enthusiasm of patriotism.

A MIDSUMMER NIGHT'S DREAM
By Felix Mendelssohn
(1809-1847)

Mendelssohn unlike most other composers, he was never in want, and never had to battle with the world for recognition. He was an early boy wonder. His father was a wealthy Jewish banker of Hamburg, Germany, where Felix was born in 1809. Together with his two sisters and a brother he was given music lessons by his talented mother, and at ten could play works of the great composers. He then became a pupil of Zelter, a great teacher of piano, who took him to Weimar, the home of Goethe, Germany's greatest poet. Goethe and Felix became great friends. Mendelssohn visited England, where he was immensely popular as a conductor and composer. He also visited Scotland and Italy, and told his impressions of those countries in overtures and symphonies. Later he took up his residence in Leipzig, where he became concert director. He composed many religious songs which reflect the calm even faith of his Lutheran religion. His death occurred in Leipzig in 1847, shortly after the death of his favorite sister, Fanny.

This beautiful number is usually played at the end of the second act of Mendelssohn's setting of "A Midsummer-Night's Dream." Hermia awakes to find Lysander gone, and starts on her fruitless search for him. This lovely movement, which seemingly expresses the conflict of emotions in Hermia's heart, is played by the first violins, which are answered by the flute and clarinet.

The theme then abruptly changes to the semi-comic measures of the "Clown's March," which is here intoned by the bassoons, the clarinets playing in thirds. This prepares the audience for the entrance of Bottom and his fellows, who begin their rehearsal in the woods.

GINGS SCHOOL

Hi-Y

The Hi-Y club held its regular meeting Tuesday night at the school building. The boys of the seventh and eighth grades were extended an invitation to attend and several accepted.

Two speakers were on the program, Arthur Cortner spoke upon "Our Relation to Athletics." He made a plea for good sportsmanship, whether we be participants or spectators. The second speaker was Glen Foster of the American National Bank of Rushville who spoke upon "Thrift." Perhaps the most striking thing the speaker said was "If saving was as disagreeable as learning to eat an olive the whole world would start a bank account." Among other things Mr. Foster said "thrift means economy of time and money. Time lost can never be regained. Money may be. It behooves us then as boys to be thrifty and economical of our time as well as of our money. Young people who do not think in terms of thrift are more liable to fail. To be thrifty is a sign of character."

"It is not the amount saved, but the habit formed. It is not the amount taken to the savings bank but the number of trips. No man's success can be measured by the size of his income. The world's successful men came from poor circumstances. From complications of men who are making America it was found that 24 were poor, seventeen in moderate circumstances and nine rich."

The Freshman, Caesar and Junior Latin classes were given the preliminary tests for the Latin contest last Friday.

Ever buy a wooden nutmeg?

A HUCKSTER stopped at Grandmother's door. "Any nutmegs today, lady?"

In the tray before him he displayed his wares big, beautiful nutmegs, and at a ridiculously low price.

Being fond of nutmegs's spicy flavor, and seeing an opportunity to stock up on them to advantage, Grandmother bought generously.

There was to be rice pudding for supper. Grandmother took the golden-brown beauty from the oven and prepared to give it its finishing touch—a sprinkling of nutmeg. Out came the grater and one of the new nutmegs. She scraped and looked puzzled. Scraped again, and looked closer. Sawdust!! The nutmegs were made of wood.

How far from such methods we have traveled in these days of advertised merchandise. The merchant of today signs his name to what he says about what he sells. He knows that when you come to buy you will expect the goods in his store to be what he has said. He knows that if he deceives you once, your trade is gone forever.

Wooden nutmegs never could have been advertised.
